

The Stairclimber People – Case Study

---

How “tech” takes young Daniel from bedroom to Ben Nevis

Carers from petite to tall can support his daily life

Date: 02/09/2021

Author: Angela May

A piece of mobility equipment is so transforming life for severely disabled Daniel that he’s now even able to enjoy family holidays!

Brain injured at birth, Daniel requires round-the-clock care support for his condition: he has Cerebral Palsy and a gastrostomy, his back arches, his legs do not bend but his body exerts strong movement and his muscle pattern changes through the day.

Big for his age, Daniel had reached the point where it was no longer safe nor practical to carry him up and down stairs.

The family now has an AAT Sella stairclimber, issued to them from local Council stock in equipment stores and accessorised with a “tilt in space” seat to his specific needs.

It means that four years old Daniel, who requires round-the-clock care, is now able to be easily transferred between levels of the family home- and beyond- even on a family holiday to the mountains of Scotland, and irrespective of which of his care team is with him.

“The stairclimber’s a brilliant bit of equipment. It’s meant we can make it a really full life for Daniel,” explained mother Jodie.

“On a practical level, because of his health issues Daniel requires 24-hour care. The stairclimber is so easy, everyone can use it- whether it’s Daniels’s dad who is 6ft 3ins to his smallest carer who’s only 4ft 11 ins. Crucially, it supports and holds Daniel safely and correctly. It just works for us.”

Find out more about the S-Max Sella:

<https://www.aatgb.com/s-max-sella/>,